

MEDICAID

Does the PPACA affect Medicaid eligibility?

Under the PPACA, Medicaid eligibility is extended to 133 percent of the Federal Poverty Level for those states electing to expand the eligibility level. Subsidies will be made available to families and individuals with household income up to 400 percent of the poverty level, declining incrementally as income levels raise.